SB-743 IMPLEMENTATION AND TDM ORDINANCE

SB-743 was passed in 2013 and requires cities to change how they assess traffic impacts, by calculating changes to vehicle-miles traveled (VMT) rather than level of service (LOS) at nearby intersections. The City of LA has been working on implementation of this law, and hopes that the switch will remove barriers to infill development and align policy with statewide sustainability goals. As a part of the VMT calculation, projects will be offered a menu of transportation demand management (TDM) options, such as providing car-share, bicycle infrastructure, unbundled parking, and parking cash-out, to help mitigate potential increases in VMT. Representatives from LADOT will present their implementation plan and CCA members will have the opportunity to weigh in before the plans are finalized.

REPORT ON LA PARKING REFORM

Last month, the Council of Infill Builders hosted a parking reform conference at City Hall. Their new report, "Wasted Space: Options to Reform Parking Policy in LA," was the centerpiece of this discussion. Guests Mott Smith and Ethan Elkind will present the findings of the report and discuss potential next steps for stakeholders in Downtown and throughout LA.
